

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY COMMENCEMENT

May 9 - 11, 2014

Information for Guests and Graduates

AMBASSADORS AND VOLUNTEERS

Gold and Blue Student Ambassadors and University volunteers will be available to assist you during Commencement. Be sure to ask them any questions you may have. Look for students wearing gold polo shirts with the GBSA insignia and adults wearing official West Virginia University name tags.

ACCOMMODATIONS

If you made arrangements with the Office of Accessibility Services, please follow the instructions that were provided to you. If you did not make arrangements prior to Commencement, a staff member from the Office of Accessibility Services will be happy to assist you. Accessible seating is available on a first-come, first-served basis.

COURTESY

West Virginia University asks that guests remain in their seats. For the safety and security of the participants, guests are not permitted to approach the stage to take personal photos of, present gifts to, or congratulate the graduates. Air horns or other noise-making devices should not be used at any time. Please turn your cell phone to 'silent' and remember that graduates will remain with their class for the duration of the ceremony. Your cooperation is much appreciated.

DIPLOMAS

Graduates will receive a West Virginia University diploma cover as they cross the stage. Diplomas will be mailed to graduates in the weeks following the ceremony. Please contact the Office of the University Registrar at 304-293-5355 or registrar@mail.wvu.edu if you have questions.

EMERGENCY INFORMATION

In an emergency, event staff will guide guests and graduates to the nearest exit. If medical attention is needed, EMS is available to assist. Please seek out a Gold and Blue Student Ambassador or other staff member to assist you.

FLORAL SALES

Flowers are available for purchase. A variety of options come in custom blue and gold packaging. Cash only. Proceeds benefit West Virginia University's Horticulture Club and Plant and Soil Sciences Club.

LOST AND FOUND

Please call 304-293-7132 to make inquiries about any lost and found items. Unclaimed items will be retained for 90 days.

PHOTOGRAPHY

West Virginia University is pleased to announce its partnership with GradImages to capture the special memories of Commencement. A photograph of each student will be taken as he or she crosses the stage. Additional shots may also be offered. Graduates will be sent electronic copies of their photo proofs. All electronic communication will be private and secure and will be sent to the e-mail address indicated by the graduate. Electronic proofs can be expected within 24 hours of the conclusion of each ceremony. For complete information, please visit www.gradimages.com.

SURVEY

Following the ceremony, please take a moment to share your opinion of WVU Commencement. Your responses will be used to strengthen and shape future events: <https://urwvu.wufoo.com/forms/wvu-commencement-survey-may-2014/>.

Commencement Traditions

THE SEAL

The West Virginia University Board of Regents adopted the seal on June 15, 1869. The Regents' original, handwritten resolution is located in the University Archives at the Wise Library. The Greek motto inscribed in the inner circle translates to: "Add to your faith virtue and to virtue knowledge." The Latin verse inscribed on the outer circle translates to: "Seal of the West Virginia University. Established 7 February, 1867." The hills depicted behind Woodburn Circle reflect the institution's stability, and a rising sun indicates its prosperity.

THE MACE

The mace is a symbolic tradition that originated during the Middle Ages. The University Marshal brings this ornamental staff of authority to the platform and taps it three times to signify the beginning of the ceremony. It represents the official authority of the University president and precedes him or her during Commencement and inauguration. Smaller batons are used to signify the designation of authority when the president is not in attendance.

THE REGALIA

The history of academic regalia worn today dates to the Middle Ages. The oldest universities of northern Europe evolved from ecclesiastical institutions where both faculty and students were regarded as part of the clergy and dressed in clerical garb. The head covering of modern academic costume was developed from the skullcap worn by the clergy in cold weather to protect their tonsured heads. At universities, this skullcap acquired a point on top, which gradually evolved into a tassel. The bonnet with tassel is still worn by some, but the mortarboard is more common.

The gown worn today evolved from the habit worn by Benedictine monks. No trimming is found on bachelor's or master's gowns, but for those holding doctoral degrees, the gown is faced down the front and trimmed on the sleeves with velvet.

Today's hood is colored according to the scholarly field of the individual and bears the official colors of the institution that conferred the degree.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSIONAL

The sequence of the processional is as follows: members of the platform party, deans, faculty, degree candidates, honored guests, and the University president.

THE MARSHALS

The tradition of academic marshals comes from storied English universities. The Grand Marshal is the chief protocol officer who coordinates the ceremonial traditions of Commencement, including the processional and recessional. The Grand Marshal is also responsible for the school's relics, including the mace and batons. Marshals are typically members of the faculty. Student marshals may be selected to help facilitate individual ceremonies.

Congratulations from President Gee

Dear Graduates,

Congratulations on reaching this important milestone in your life's journey.

Since you arrived at West Virginia University, you have taken on and conquered every challenge that came your way. You navigated through requirements and electives, early morning English classes, and late-night calculus study marathons. You have worked tirelessly for years with this day in mind.

You came here in need of something we possess. You leave here possessing something for which there is a desperate need.

You possess not only facts and figures, but the faith and freedom to seek new answers and to ask new questions. Your task will not be easy, but my confidence in you is full and complete.

In my short time on campus, I have already witnessed your remarkable passion and curiosity, your devotion to ideas, and willingness to take action. With those qualities, and your education, you will go far.

Wherever life takes you, always remember your alma mater.

We will not forget you.

E. Gordon Gee
President

2014 Honorary Degree Recipients

STEPHEN P. COONTS

Born in Morgantown and raised in Buckhannon, Stephen P. Coonts graduated from West Virginia University in 1968 with an A.B. degree from the College of Arts and Sciences, where he majored in political science, with minors in English, history, and economics.

He immediately went into the United States Navy and was designated a naval aviator in August 1969. He made two combat cruises to Vietnam in the final years of that war flying A-6 Intruders from the deck of USS Enterprise. He left active duty in 1977 and attended the University of Colorado School of Law. He was admitted to the bar in West Virginia and Colorado.

In 1986 his first novel, Flight of the Intruder, was published and spent 28 weeks on the New York Times bestseller list. He has been a professional novelist ever since, with 26 books to his credit, 16 of them bestsellers. He is also the coauthor of an additional nine novels. His latest novel is Saucer: Savage Planet. His works have been translated into 26 languages and published around the world.

He and his wife, Deborah Jean Coonts, reside in Colorado.

FRED T. TATTERSALL

Fred T. Tattersall graduated with honors from West Virginia University's College of Business and Economics with a bachelor of science in finance in 1970. He was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma his junior year. He was a senior vice president of what is now Bank of America, and then became a partner at Lowe, Brockenbrough, Tierney and Tattersall, where he began to build an institutional fixed income division.

After a successful spinoff in 1997, which created the Tattersall Advisory Group (TAG), he was the sole proprietor of a registered investment advisor with over $6 billion in assets under management. TAG was sold to First Union Bank in 1999, and Tattersall stayed on as CEO. When Tattersall retired from the company in 2004, the firm was managing over $18 billion in assets.

Tattersall is now chairman of 1607 Capital Partners, a Richmond-based investment management company established in 2007. The firm manages over $2.8 billion in assets, specializing in investing in closed-end funds.

Tattersall has served as the past chair of the Community Foundation serving Richmond and Central Virginia, the University of Richmond Trustee Board as a member of the executive committee and chair of the investment committee, the Virginia Museum Board of Trustees, and the WVU Foundation Board of Directors, where he serves as a member of the executive committee and chairs the investment committee.

Tattersall's greatest contributions outside of business have been to The First Tee organization, focused on impacting young people by providing educational programs that build character, instill life-enhancing values, and promote healthy choices through the game of golf. Tattersall serves as a National Trustee and was the founder of the local Richmond chapter, where he has served as president since 1998. He was recently appointed to the national organization's board of directors.

Fred and his wife, Roddy, have two children and five grandchildren.

2014 WVU Foundation Outstanding Seniors

Established in 1995 to signify the 40th anniversary of the WVU Foundation, the WVU Foundation Outstanding Senior award is given yearly to West Virginia University's top graduates, based on a number of criteria. Academic achievement, honors, awards, public service, demonstrated leadership, collegiate work experience, letters of reference, and a narrative of the value of the West Virginia University undergraduate experience are considered.

2014 Order of Augusta

The Order of Augusta is awarded to a select group of each year's Outstanding Seniors who have shown superior scholarship, leadership, and service as an undergraduate. This award, the highest given to a student by the University, is named for its historical significance in the state. Augusta was among the original names considered by the Legislature when the state seceded from Virginia in 1863.

Brooke Bertus, from Parkersburg, West Virginia, will graduate with degrees in biology and math. She is the vice president of Mortar Board National Senior Honorary, co-president of the WVU Dance Marathon executive board, vice president of fund-raising outreach at Unite for Sight, and a member of the Alpha Epsilon Delta Pre-Health Honorary. She took two trips to Honduras over spring break in 2012 and 2013 as part of a Global Medical Bridges service trip. She also traveled to China in 2011 with the WVNano IRES internship to perform research, which she is passionate about. Following graduation, she will enroll in a master's of public health program in epidemiology, and later, WVU's School of Medicine. She would like to apply her epidemiology and medicine in rural, international situations.

Zachary Claudio, from Charleston, West Virginia, will graduate with a degree in chemistry. He is a member of the WVU men's soccer team, the representative for his team on the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, and member of Phi Lambda Upsilon Honorary Chemical Society. Last summer, he held a research internship under Jessica Hoover, assistant professor of chemistry, where he learned proper etiquette and how to better communicate his research results to others. In 2012, he spent time job-shadowing at the Charleston Area Medical Center Trauma and Intensive Care Unit. He wants to stay within the state upon graduation and plans to become a reconstructive plastic surgeon.

Jessica Harlee, from Bel Air, Maryland, will graduate with a degree in industrial engineering. She is best known for her success with the women's basketball team, winning the program's first Big 12 regular season championship earlier this year. She is the women's basketball representative on the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. In addition, she's a member of the Institute of Industrial Engineers and Alpha Pi Mu, the Industrial Engineering Honorary Society. She has earned a lot of professional experience, including time as an administrative intern at Mon General Hospital and in manufacturing administration at Mylan Pharmaceuticals. After graduation, she will join a consulting group in Pittsburgh.

Priyanka Jagannath, from Charleston, West Virginia, will graduate with a degree in chemistry. She is the president and four-year member of Emergency USA, the fund-raising chair of Alpha Epsilon Delta, the premedical honor society, and an active member of the American Chemical Society Student Affiliates. Previously, she was the president of the Global Medical and Dental Brigades. She has had various research opportunities in her time as a student, including at the Eye Institute and at the Summer Undergraduate Research Institute for Neuroscience. As part of the Global Medicine and Dental Brigades, she took two trips to Honduras. She will enroll in the WVU School of Medicine in the fall and hopes to become a retinal surgeon.

Rachel James, from Crawford, West Virginia, will graduate with a degree in civil engineering. She is the recipient of a 2013 Goldwater Scholarship. In addition, she has been a member of the Society of Women Engineers for the past four years and currently serves as the professional development chair. She is also a four-year member of American Society of Civil Engineers. Since September 2011, she has been an undergraduate research assistant for the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, where she also served as a teaching assistant during the past semester. She hopes to one day become a civil engineering professor with an emphasis in transportation and infrastructure management.

Rachel Manning, from Huntingtown, Maryland, will graduate with degrees in agriculture and extension education and agribusiness management and rural development. She is active within the Davis College of Agriculture, Natural Resources and Design as a member of student council, Welcome Back to School BBQ, and Spring Formal. She is the historian of the Dairy Science Club and served as president of the Block and Bridle Club, among many other activities and organizations. She has also visited Austria, Belgium, France, Germany, and the Netherlands on study abroad trips. She has also worked as a student teacher at Graton High School and will continue her studies upon graduation to pursue a doctoral degree in the hope of one day becoming a high school agricultural education teacher.

Caroline Miskovsky, from Hedgesville, West Virginia, will graduate with degrees in English literature and Slavic and East European studies. She has been a student assistant for the Summer Study Abroad WVU at Oxford, a teacher's assistant for a Polish film class, and a member of the WVU women's club ultimate Frisbee team. She spent the fall 2012 semester in the Czech Republic studying as an exchange student at Masaryk University. She also worked two part-time jobs to pay her way through college. She plans to stay at WVU and pursue a master's degree in curriculum and education with a certification in secondary English.

Benjamin Seebaugh, from Parkersburg, West Virginia, will graduate with degrees in international studies, political science, and women's and gender studies. He was WVU's 2013-14 Student Government Association vice president. He was also a two-term vice president of the Young Democrats and a student representative on the Council for Women's Concerns, the Student Conduct Board, and the OneWVU Social Justice Committee. He has studied abroad twice, first in Santander, Spain, and, a year later, in England at the University of Manchester. He was named a Truman Scholar in 2012. His goal is to fight against international human rights violations. To do so, he is pursuing more experience in the nonprofit and governmental sectors of human rights advocacy.

Gayle Manchin

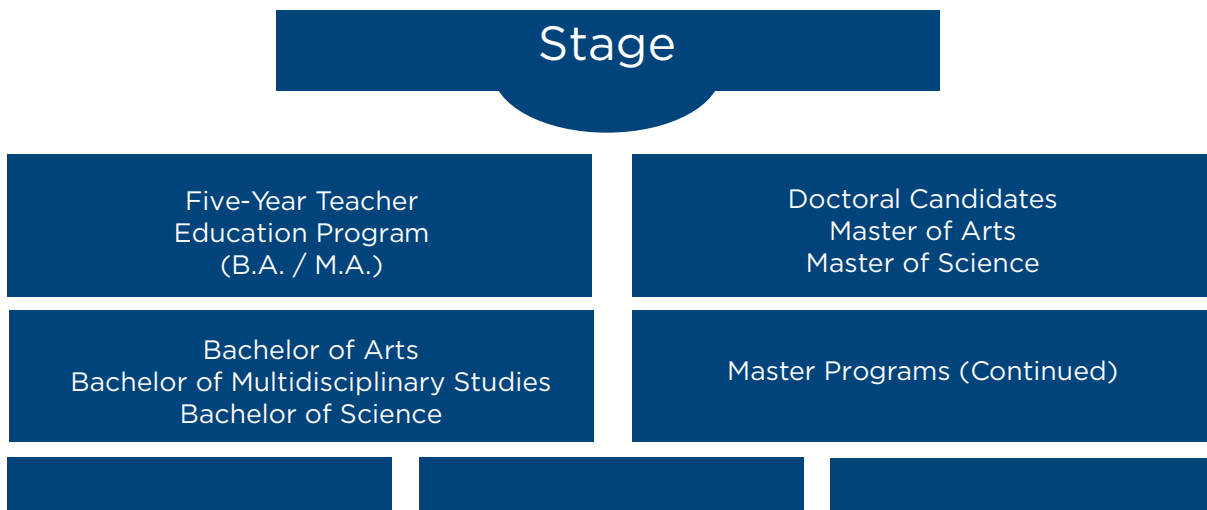

Gayle Conelly Manchin attended West Virginia University, where she attained a bachelor of arts in language arts and education and a master of arts in reading. She earned a second master's specialization in educational technology leadership from Salem International University.

As an educator, Gayle worked in Marion County Schools at the secondary level, served on the faculty of Fairmont State University in developmental education, and was the director of FSU's first community service learning program. She also directed the AmeriCorps Promise Fellows in West Virginia and implemented a statewide initiative, WV Partnerships to Assure Student Success.

From January 2005 until November 2010, Gayle served as West Virginia's First Lady and was the official hostess of the Governor's Mansion. In 2007, the Governor appointed her to the State Board of Education, where she currently serves as president. She is chair of the board for Reconnecting McDowell, an AFT initiative serving rural West Virginia, and is past president of the Vandalia Rotary Club of Charleston.

On the national level, Gayle is the past president of the National State Boards of Education and was appointed by U.S. Secretary of Education Arne Duncan to the Federal Improvement for Post Secondary Education board. She also serves as corresponding secretary for the U.S. Senate Spouses, is a member of the First Lady Luncheon Committee, and is a member of the International III Club. Gayle sits on the board of directors for Horton's Kids, a nonprofit organization serving at-risk youth in Washington, D.C.

While at WVU, Gayle met and married Joe Manchin, III, current U.S. Senator from West Virginia. Joe and Gayle have been married for 46 years and have three children and eight grandchildren.

Amy Webb

Amy Webb is a digital media futurist and founder and CEO of Webbmedia Group, a digital strategy agency that spots emerging technology trends and develops innovative ideas and strategies for media organizations, Fortune 100 and 500 companies, large nonprofits, universities and government agencies. Recently, Webb's team worked with American Express to reimagine the future of credit cards on mobile phones and Time Inc. to develop content strategies for screenless computing. In addition, Webb is the cofounder of Spark Camp, a next-generation think tank that brings together bright minds to imagine the future and solve problems in society.

Webb holds many professional affiliations and collaborates with a number of institutions. She is a delegate on the U.S.-Russia Bilateral Presidential Commission, a lecturer in the Sulzberger Leadership Program at Columbia University, a member of the Aspen Institute Dialogue on Public Libraries and a member of the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (Interactive Media Peer Group - Emmy award judge). She is on the board of directors for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and serves on several startup and advisory boards, including the SXSW Accelerator and the International Center for Journalists.

Webb originally attended the Jacobs School of Music to study classical clarinet and holds a Master of Science degree from the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. She also earned Nikyu Certification in the Japanese government-administered Language Proficiency Test and speaks fluently. Webb began her career as a reporter and writer with Newsweek in Tokyo and The Wall Street Journal in Hong Kong, where she covered emerging technology, media and cultural trends. She contributes to a number of publications, including the Harvard Business Review and Slate, where she writes the "Data Mine" column.

In 2013, Webb published Data, A Love Story, a bestselling book about the world of online dating, consumer behavior and finding love via algorithms. She was featured on Good Morning America, 20/20, The View, NPR and CNN. Her book was covered by numerous media outlets, including People Magazine, Time, the Wall Street Journal, the New York Times, the Washington Post, Wired, Elle, Slate, the Huffington Post, Grazia, ReadWrite, Mashable and many others. Forbes named Webb one of the "Women Changing the World," while the Columbia Journalism Review included her on its "20 Women to Watch in Media" list.

Dianne D. Anderson

Dianne Dubetz Anderson is the first executive director of the Great Lakes Energy Institute at Case Western Reserve University. Since 2008, Anderson has been inspiring faculty to aim their research toward the world's most pressing energy problems, having herself spent 30 years working in energy. Case Western has quadrupled its level of energy-related research since the launch of the institute.

Anderson previously worked for BP for 25 years and was appointed president, U.S. West of Rockies Fuels, in 2006. Having joined BP in 1983, she progressed through roles in upstream exploration and downstream transportation fuels, natural gas, and electricity. Anderson held several global leadership positions over her career, across the United States and internationally in London and Krakow, Poland. In a variety of strategic and operating roles, Anderson brought clean fuels to market with the enactment of the Clean Air Act and managed natural gas and electric-power regulatory affairs for Canada and the United States.

Anderson graduated magna cum laude from West Virginia University in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in civil engineering. She completed senior-executive development programs at Harvard, Cambridge University, and Northwestern University, and was a visiting faculty member in Stanford University's program on Customer Focused Innovation. Anderson currently serves as a member of the Statler College's Engineering and Computer Science Enterprise Visiting Committee. She and her husband, Jim, who is also a WVU graduate, live in Cleveland, Ohio.

RALPH M. BARNES SENIOR SCHOLASTIC ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Established by the family of Ralph M. Barnes, an alumnus of the College of Engineering, to encourage, recognize, and reward superior academic performance, this award goes to the graduate(s) with the highest grade point average during their junior and senior years while enrolled as a full-time student. Recipients will be announced during the ceremony.

WVU FOUNDATION OUTSTANDING SENIORS

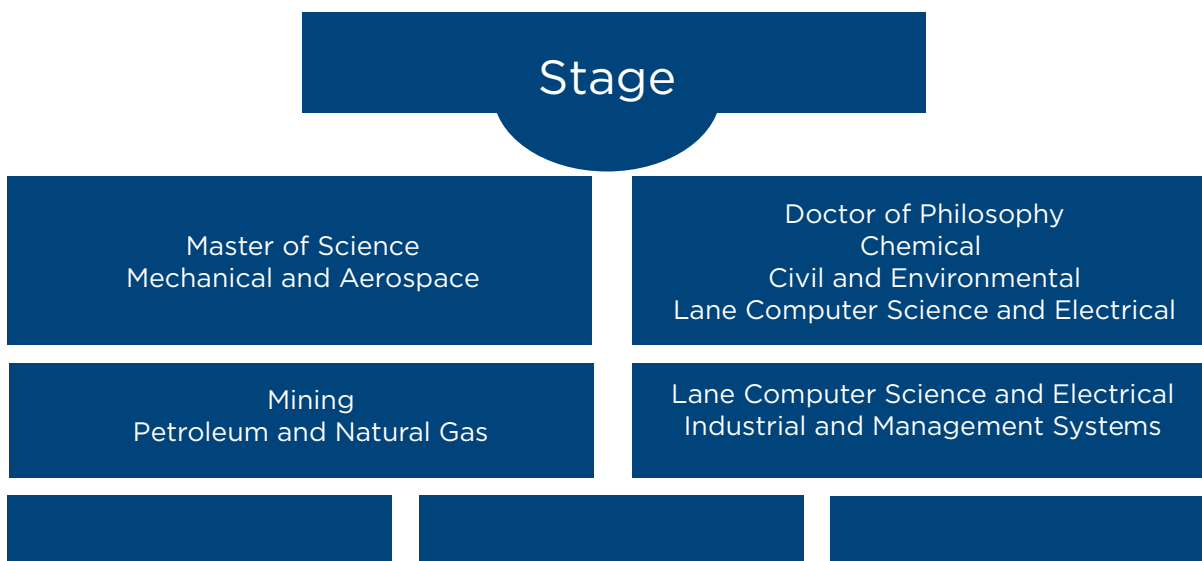

Each year the WVU Foundation selects West Virginia University's top graduating students based on a number of criteria. Academic achievement, honors, awards, public service, demonstrated leadership, collegiate work experience, letters of reference, and a narrative of the value of the West Virginia University undergraduate experience are considered. The 2014 WVU Foundation Outstanding Seniors from the Benjamin M. Statler College of Engineering and Mineral Resources are:

Order of Augusta

Jessica Harlee
Rachel James

Outstanding Seniors

Benjamin Carrero

Engineers' Creed

As a professional engineer, I dedicate my professional knowledge and skill to the advancement and betterment of human welfare. I pledge:

To give the utmost of performance;

To participate in none but honest enterprise;

To live and work according to the laws of man and the highest standards of professional conduct;

To place service before profit, the honor and standing of the profession before personal advantage, and the public welfare above all other considerations.

In humility and with need for divine guidance, I make this pledge.

Adopted by the National Society of Professional Engineers, June 1954

ORDER OF THE COIF

Selection to the Order of the Coif, as represented by the white circle on the graduate's hat, is a recognition of outstanding scholarly achievement in law school. West Virginia University has been the home of a chapter of the Order of the Coif since 1925.

ORDER OF THE BARRISTERS

A national honorary organization, the Order of the Barristers encourages oral advocacy and brief-writing skills through effective law school appellate moot court programs. Members of the Marlyn E. Lugar Trial Association, the Moot Court Board, and students who have outstanding oral advocacy achievements are eligible for the award.

PATRICK DUFFY KOONTZ PRIZE

The Patrick Duffy Koontz Prize is a monetary prize awarded to West Virginia residents selected by the WVU College of Law scholarship committee on the basis of scholarship, character, and leadership potential.

THOMAS N. CHAMBERS AWARD IN TAXATION

The Thomas N. Chambers Award in Taxation was established by the West Virginia Tax Institute in recognition of outstanding achievement by a student in tax law scholarship.

THE WEST VIRGINIA LAW REVIEW

The West Virginia Law Review publishes three scholarly issues each year, which regularly are cited by courts throughout the nation as an authoritative source of interpretation and explanation of the law. Candidates for the Law Review are selected on the basis of academic performance and legal research and writing skills following their first or second year in law school. Members of the board elect the Editor-in-Chief, who appoints other executive editors. The West Virginia Law Review is the fourth oldest student-led law journal in the nation and was established in 1894.

MARLYN E. LUGAR TRIAL ASSOCIATION

The Marlyn E. Lugar Trial Association is an honorary society of law students selected based on their grades in Trial Advocacy. Participating students compete in intramural trials during the fall of their third year and represent the WVU College of Law in external trial competitions during the spring. The Association also sponsors and conducts the West Virginia Invitational trial competition, which is open to all students at the WVU College of Law.

MOOT COURT

The Moot Court Board manages the George C. Baker Cup intramural appellate moot court competition. Members of the WVU College of Law national and international moot court teams are selected from the members of the board on the basis of competitions and represent the college throughout the area and the nation.

CLINICAL LAW PROGRAM

The Clinical Law Program provides civil legal services to qualified clients with a variety of concentrations. These cases provide excellent experiential learning opportunities for law students.

The Justitia Officium Award

The WVU College of Law Justitia Officium Award recognizes outstanding contributions and service to the legal profession and is the highest honor the WVU College of Law bestows. Established in 1978, in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the WVU College of Law, the Justitia Officium Award is presented annually. A bronze plaque bearing the recipient's name and year awarded is mounted in the lobby of the WVU College of Law.

Forest "Jack" Bowman

Forest "Jack" Bowman is the Jackson & Kelly Professor of Law Emeritus at the West Virginia University College of Law. He taught at WVU Law for 23 years, retiring in 2002. During his tenure, he was named Professor of the Year by seven graduating classes and University Professor of the Year in 1998. In 1988, he was named Professor of the Year for all of higher education in the state by the Faculty Merit Foundation of West Virginia.

Professor Bowman is a fellow of the American Bar Foundation, an honor bestowed upon only one-third of one percent of all America's lawyers. He is a member of the first class of fellows inducted in 1999. He is the only three-time recipient of the Certificate of Merit, the highest award the West Virginia State Bar can bestow on one of its members. While on the faculty of the College of Law, he developed a continuing legal education seminar business which took him to 31 states and two Canadian provinces, lecturing lawyers on legal ethics, lawyer malpractice, time management, stress management and professionalism. In 1995, the American Bar Association and the American Law Institute awarded him the Harrison Tweed Award for outstanding contributions to continuing legal education in America.

In 2003, Professor Bowman was inducted into WVU's Order of Vandalia and, in 2011, he was named the University's Outstanding Alumnus. He is also a former president of the West Virginia Bar Association and is a past chair of the Board of Visitors of the Salvation Army's Evangeline Booth College in Atlanta, Georgia. Professor Bowman is a former captain in the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Corps. After leaving the Army, he served a four-year term as Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for West Virginia. In 1970, he was named the first full-time executive director of the West Virginia State Bar and, in 1975, he was appointed the first administrative director of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia.

A native West Virginian, Professor Bowman was the first person in his family to attend college. He is a 1960 graduate of West Virginia University, where he served as student body president in 1959-60 and as Summit of Mountain (then the ranking WVU men's honorary) in 1960-61. He earned his J.D. from the WVU College of Law in 1963 and in 1977 was named a graduate fellow of the Institute for Court Management.

Professor Bowman lives in Morgantown where he continues his work with the law, serving as special ethics counsel to the Pittsburgh-based law firm of Burns White. He is married to the former Myla Woodford of Belington, West Virginia. They have two sons and three grandchildren.

The Honorable O.C. Spaulding

The Honorable O.C. "Hobby" Spaulding was Judge for the 29th Judicial Circuit serving Putnam and Mason counties for 19 years. He retired at the end of 2011 due to amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, or ALS.

Judge Spaulding was born in Fairmont and raised in Huntington. He graduated in 1967 from the University of Kentucky with a bachelor's degree in business. He earned his J.D. from the West Virginia University College of Law in 1973. Before attending WVU Law, Judge Spaulding was a systems engineer at IBM in Baltimore, Maryland. He credits Willard Lorensen, former dean of the College of Law, for setting him on a path in criminal law. In his second semester at WVU Law, at the request of Dean Lorensen, Judge Spaulding worked undercover in organized gambling in Morgantown.

Following graduation, Judge Spaulding established a practice in Hurricane and served as general counsel to the Putnam General Hospital. From 1977 to 1987, he was the full-time prosecuting attorney for Putnam County. He began serving as circuit judge for Putnam and Mason Counties in 1993. Over the course of his career, Judge Spaulding was appointed 14 times to fill in as a justice of the Supreme Court of Appeals of West Virginia. A past president of the West Virginia Judicial Association, he served during the year when Governor Manchin appointed a commission to study the selection of state judges.

Judge Spaulding has long valued his role as a mentor to others and was a frequent continuing legal education teacher. He began teaching criminal law to his fellow prosecutors and his activities as a mentor accelerated upon becoming a judge, especially when it came to explaining Supreme Court decisions on criminal cases. Judge Spaulding is also a longtime advocate of recording the entire police interrogation process as a means of minimizing false confessions, ensuring that suspect rights are observed, and using these detailed recordings to aid judges during pre-trial suppression hearings. Judge Spaulding has been generously assisting WVU Law students in the West Virginia Innocence Project to draft legislation to mandate recording of the interrogation process. He sees his work with law students as the capstone to his distinguished legal career.

In January 2014, Judge Spaulding was named the recipient of the Mayo Lester Community Service Award, which recognizes an individual who has demonstrated outstanding community leadership in Putnam County. In 2013, the Putnam County Youth Reporting Center was renamed the O.C. Spaulding Training Center in his honor.

Judge Spaulding is married to Cabell County Circuit Judge Jane Husted.

Chris Sarandon

Chris Sarandon is an American actor who is best known for playing Prince Humperdinck in Rob Reiner's film, The Princess Bride, as well as the vampire Jerry Dandrige in Fright Night and Detective Mike Norris in the first entry of the Child's Play series. He provided the speaking voice of Jack Skellington in Tim Burton's animated Disney film, The Nightmare Before Christmas, and was nominated for an Academy Award for Best Supporting Actor for his performance as Leon in Dog Day Afternoon.

Sarandon was born and raised in Beckley, West Virginia, the son of restaurateur Chris Sarandon, Sr. and Cliffie. His mother's parents were Greek immigrants, and his father, whose surname was originally Sarandonethes, was a Greek immigrant as well. He graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in Beckley and went on to West Virginia University, where he earned a bachelor of fine arts degree in speech and drama, graduating magna cum laude. He earned his master's degree in theater from the Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

After graduation, Sarandon toured with Catholic University's National Players, playing Shakespeare and Moliere and acting as a lighting designer and truck driver. He worked at an improv company in Washington, D.C., before becoming involved in regional theatre, making his professional debut in The Rose Tattoo in 1965. In 1968, Sarandon moved to New York, where he landed his first television role as Dr. Tom Halverson on The Guiding Light, a role he played until 1973. He then appeared in the primetime television movies The Satan Murders and Thursday's Game, before landing the role of Al Pacino's transsexual wife in Dog Day Afternoon, a performance that earned him nominations for Best New Male Star of the Year at the Golden Globes and Best Supporting Actor at the Academy Awards.

Sarandon appeared in The Rothschilds and The Two Gentlemen of Verona on Broadway, as well making regular appearances at Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw festivals in the United States and Canada. He also appeared in a series of television roles that mirrored his affinity for the classics and took roles in films opposite the late Margaux Hemingway, both in the 1976 thriller, Lipstick, and as an attorney-turned-demon in the 1977 shocker, The Sentinel.

In the 1980s, Sarandon took on a wide range of roles, including the title role in the made-for-television movie, The Day Christ Died, and as Thomas Wolfe in You Can't Go Home Again. He received accolades for his dual portrayals of Sydney Carton and Charles Darnay in a made-for-television version of A Tale of Two Cities. He then co-starred with Dennis Hopper in The Osterman Weekend, which was based on the Robert Ludlum novel of the same name, and with Goldie Hawn in Protocol. These films were followed by another mainstream success playing the vampire-next-door in the teen horror film, Fright Night.

In 1992, he played the dual roles of Joseph Curwen and Charles Dexter Ward in The Resurrected. He then reprised his role as Jack Skellington in the Capcom sequel to the original film, Oogie's Revenge, in the Disney/Square video games, Kingdom of Hearts and Kingdom of Hearts II, and in Halloween Screams and the Haunted Mansion Holiday, a three-month overlay of the Haunted Mansion at Disneyland.

Sarandon went on to work in television again with a recurring role as Dr. Burke on NBC's long-running medical drama, ER, and as a recurring character on The Practice. In the 2000's, he made guest appearances on many television series, notably as the necromancer demon, Armand, in Charmed and as the superior court judge, Barry Krumble, in six episodes of Judging Amy. More recently, he has appeared as a guest star on Law and Order SVU and The Good Wife.

He returned to Broadway in 2006 playing Signor Naccarelli in the six-time Tony award-winning musical, The Light in the Piazza at Lincoln Center. He has recently appeared in Cyrano de Bergerac as Antoine de Guiche, alongside Kevin Kline, Jennifer Garner, and Daniel Sunjata. He is currently directing a play about sexual assault on women that has had a series of readings in New York.

Sarandon met his wife, Joanna Gleason, daughter of Monty Hall, while performing on Broadway in 1991 in the short-lived musical, Nick & Nora. The two married in 1994 and, between them, have four grown children and two grandchildren. They have appeared in a number of films together, including Edie & Pen, American Perfekt, and Let the Devil Wear Black.

He currently sits on the advisory board for the Greenbrier Valley Theatre in Lewisburg, West Virginia.

Bill Sheedy

Bill Sheedy leads Visa's corporate strategy and mergers and acquisitions efforts, global policy and government relations, and oversees strategic initiatives for the company, including Visa's relationships and interests in Europe. In this role, he is responsible for charting the company's strategic direction and driving growth, expanding the company's relationships with governments and regulators globally, and leading critical initiatives and transactions with clients and partners around the world.

More recently, Sheedy was Group President, Americas, and oversaw Visa's business across nearly 50 countries in North America, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean. In this role, Sheedy was responsible for issuer, merchant, acquirer, and third-party processor relationships and led efforts to expand card issuance, merchant acceptance, and usage of Visa-branded products and services across the Americas. He also had responsibility for Visa's core credit, debit, prepaid, commercial, small business, and co-brand businesses.

Previously, Sheedy served as president of the company's North America region. Sheedy also played a leadership role in managing Visa's corporate restructuring that merged multiple regional Visa entities into a single global company, culminating in Visa's successful initial public offering in 2008. Earlier in his career, Sheedy managed Visa's U.S. pricing and economics strategies. He joined the company in 1993 as an executive in Visa's strategy and pricing division.

Sheedy holds a bachelor of science from West Virginia University and an M.B.A. from the University of Notre Dame.

Keith Bowers

For nearly three decades, Keith Bowers has been at the forefront of applied ecology, land conservation, and sustainable design. As the founder and president of Biohabitats, Keith has built a multidisciplinary organization focused on conservation planning, ecological restoration, and regenerative design. Using a living-systems approach as the basis for all of its work, Biohabitats employs whole-systems thinking through applied ecology to address a variety of projects at multiple scales. From site-specific river, wetland, and coastal habitat restoration projects to regional watershed management and conservation, to the regeneration of urban estuaries, Keith has kept Biohabitats at the vanguard of ecology and design.

Keith is also president and founder of Biohabitats' sister company, Ecological Restoration and Management, Inc. ER&M provides professional installation and management services for restoration projects throughout North America.

Keith currently serves on the board of directors for the Wildlands Network, a national organization focused on restoring, protecting, and connecting North America's best wild places. Keith is also the Theme Lead for Ecological Restoration under the International Union for the Conservation of Nature's Commission on Ecosystem Management. Keith has also served for more than 13 years on the board of directors for the Society for Ecological Restoration International, twice as its chair, and currently serves on several board committees.

He is a fellow of the American Society of Landscape Architects, licensed in over seven states, and is a professional wetland scientist. Keith holds a bachelor of science in landscape architecture from West Virginia University and an honorary degree from the Conway School of Landscape Design.

Earl Scime

Earl Scime is the Oleg D. Jefimenko Professor of Physics and Astronomy and interim associate vice president for research at West Virginia University. He served for 11 years as the chair of the Department of Physics and Astronomy prior to his appointment to the WVU Research Corporation leadership team.

An active researcher in plasma physics, Scime is a Department of Energy distinguished postdoctoral fellow at the Los Alamos National Laboratory and has more than 30 years of academic experience. He has consulted for Scime Scientific Consulting, Fusion UV Curing Systems, WH. Freeman & Co and McGraw-Hill, The Delta Project, and BCR Innovations, LLC.

He is an American Physical Society fellow and executive committee member of the Topical Group on Plasma Astrophysics. He is a member of organizations including the American Geophysical Union, University Fusion Associates IEEE, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Scime has received more than 20 awards, including the Claude Worthington Benedum Distinguished Scholar Award, Outstanding Research and Outstanding Teacher Awards from the Eberly College of Arts and Sciences, the WVU Foundation Award for Outstanding Teaching, a NASA Group Achievement Award for his work with the IMAGE spacecraft team, and a U.S. Department of Energy Plasma Physics Junior Faculty Research Grant. He was named a fellow of the American Physical Society in 2011.

He is also the co-founder of MARS – the Mountaineer Area Robotics Team, a competitive high school robotics team, and an umbrella organization for more than 25 middle school robotics teams in north-central West Virginia. His work with MARS was recognized with the FIRST Robotics national mentor of the year award, the Woodie Flowers award, in 2012.

Scime graduated summa cum laude with honors in 1987 from Florida State University. He received two bachelor's degrees, one in physics, and one in applied mathematics. He earned his doctorate in physics in 1992 from the University of Wisconsin-Madison with a concentration in plasma physics.

Michael Slaven

Michael Slaven is an associate professor of French history at California University of Pennsylvania, where he specializes in 17th century propaganda.

He has served as a member of the American Society for Quality, which is associated with the National Institute for Standards and Technology, on behalf of California University of Pennsylvania. He served as a member of the West Virginia University Board of Visitors, Student Life from 2011-2014. He was appointed to the advisory committee for the Eberly College of Arts and Sciences, from 2008-2014. He is the former president of the faculty senate at California University of Pennsylvania, where he served the limit of three, three-year terms. He is a former constituent member of California University Forum and was involved in the creation of that body.

Slaven earned a bachelor's degree in history with a minor in political science from West Virginia University, as well as a master's degree in European history and a doctorate in French history.

Stephen P. Coonts

Born in Morgantown and raised in Buckhannon, Stephen P. Coonts graduated from West Virginia University in 1968 with an A.B. degree from the College of Arts and Sciences, where he majored in political science, with minors in English, history, and economics.

He immediately went into the United States Navy and was designated a naval aviator in August 1969. He made two combat cruises to Vietnam in the final years of that war flying A-6 Intruders from the deck of USS Enterprise. He left active duty in 1977 and attended the University of Colorado School of Law. He was admitted to the bar in West Virginia and Colorado.

In 1986 his first novel, Flight of the Intruder, was published and spent 28 weeks on the New York Times bestseller list. He has been a professional novelist ever since, with 26 books to his credit, 16 of them bestsellers. He is also the coauthor of an additional nine novels. His latest novel is Saucer: Savage Planet. His works have been translated into 26 languages and published around the world.

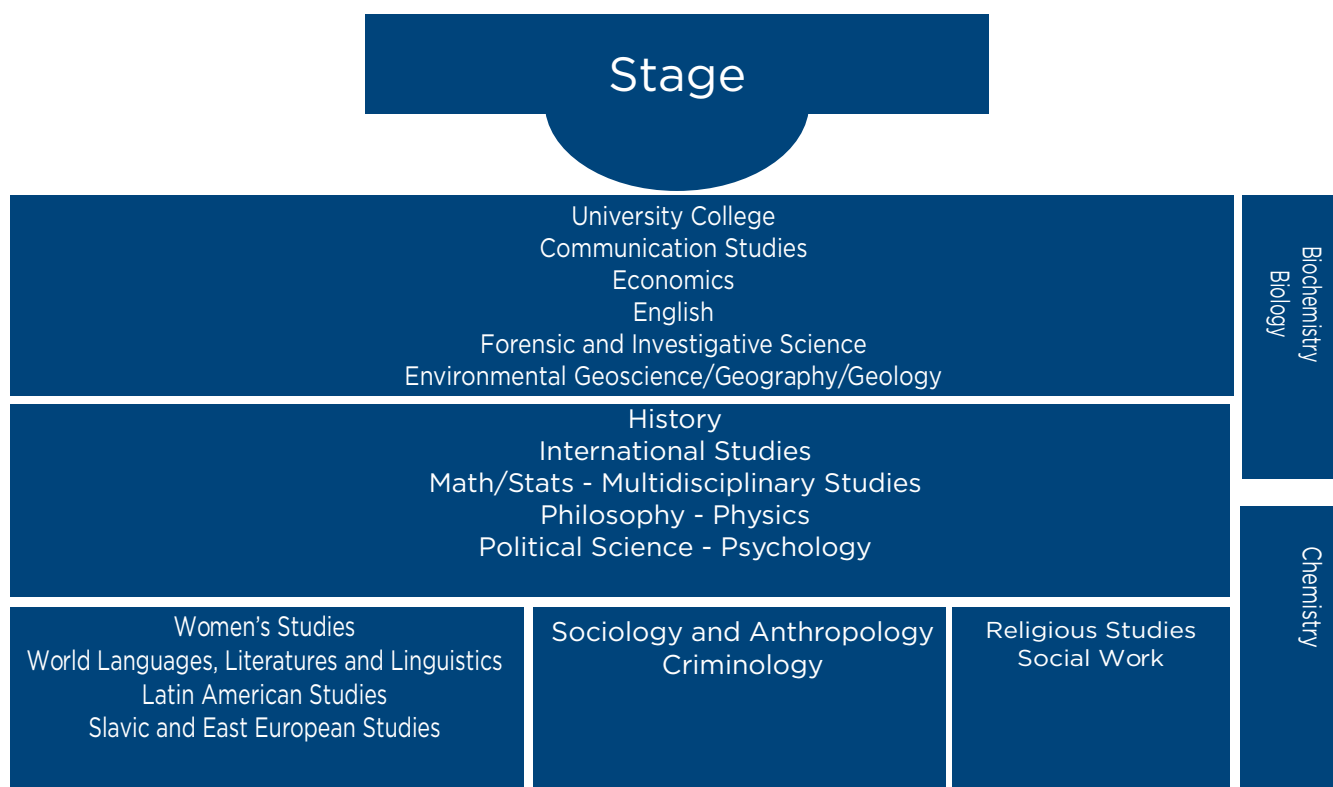

He and his wife, Deborah Jean Coonts, reside in Colorado.

Jason C. Pizatella

Jason Pizatella is deputy chief of staff for West Virginia Governor Earl Ray Tomblin. He is also the Governor's designee and chairman of the Parkways Authority, Water Development Authority, and Infrastructure and Jobs Development Council. Prior to this appointment, he served as acting cabinet secretary of the West Virginia Department of Revenue and was Governor Tomblin's director of legislative affairs and primary legislative liaison.

Before joining the Tomblin administration, Pizatella was deputy commissioner of the State Tax Division and also served as counsel to the State Senate Committee on Government Organization and Committee on Finance. Prior to his service in state government, he practiced law at Spilman, Thomas and Battle, PLLC in Charleston, where he supported clients in the areas of general corporate and business law, mergers and acquisitions, administrative law, as well as state and federal government relations and regulatory law.

A native of Fairmont, West Virginia, Pizatella is a 2007 graduate of the West Virginia University College of Law and a 2004 graduate of the WVU Eberly College of Arts and Sciences.

Gale Catlett

Gale Catlett was a West Virginia University Mountaineer basketball player from 1959-63, helping the Mountaineers to records of 24-4, 26-6 and 23-8, as well as attaining two NCAA tournament berths. After graduating from the School of Physical Education in 1963, he started a career in college coaching that took him to Richmond, Davidson, Kansas and Kentucky as an assistant coach. In 1972, he was named head coach at the University of Cincinnati, posting a 126-44 record and three NCAA tournament appearances in his six seasons. During the 1976-77 season, his Cincinnati team was ranked as high as second in the nation. Catlett returned to his alma mater as head coach in 1978 and went on to post a record of 439-276 in his 24 year tenure -- the longest in WVU basketball history.

Taking 20 teams to postseason play (eleven to the NCAA, nine to the NIT) he coached two Metro Conference champions, five Atlantic 10 regular season and two A-10 tournament champions and shepherded WVU's move into Big East competition, where his 1998 club advanced to the NCAA Sweet 16. Catlett retired in 2002 with an overall coaching mark of 565-320, making him the 45th Division I coach to win 500 career games.

Catlett was inducted into the College of Physical Activity and Sport Sciences Hall of Fame in 1992 and was recognized as the CPASS Outstanding Alumnus in 1999. Catlett served as honorary chair in celebration of the College's 75th Anniversary and served as moderator for the keynote event, the sports legends symposium. The sports legends panel featured Catlett, Jerry West, Rod Hundley, Rod Thorn, Sam Huff, Chuck Howley and Kristin Quackenbush-DiBartolomeo.

Catlett is married to the former Anise Vandervort, a Morgantown native and former WVU cheerleader who earned a master's degree from the WVU School of Physical Education. They have two daughters, Krista, married to Ed Neumann, and Kara, married to Thomas Brown. When in West Virginia, Catlett and his wife are usually at their home in Morgantown or on the farm in his hometown of Hedgesville. In winter, they enjoy Florida and Hawaii's warmer temperatures.

Kelyn Earley

Kelyn Earley completed her bachelor's degree in physical education teacher education in December 2013. She is dual-certified to teach physical education and health education to pre-K-12th grade students. While at West Virginia University, she was actively engaged in the PETE majors club, worked in the Kaleidoscope program, and was a lifeguard and swim instructor.

Congratulations from the WVU Alumni Association

Dear Graduates,

As president of the WVU Alumni Association, it is my honor to officially welcome you to our alumni family! You are part of a growing, passionate group of more than 190,000 Mountaineers living all over the world.

The WVU Alumni Association is here to keep you connected to your alma mater. Just because you aren't here on campus, doesn't mean you can't stay connected. Help recruit students. Join one of our more than 100 alumni chapters/groups located all over the world. Volunteer your time. It's easy. Don't leave WVU behind. Visit our new grad page (alumni.wvu.edu/new-grad) for helpful tips and other important info on staying connected to your alma mater.

And, as a new grad, we are pleased to offer your first-year membership in the WVU Alumni Association at no cost to you, so take advantage of our programs and services geared toward keeping you connected to and engaged in the life of WVU. Visit alumni.wvu.edu for more information.

As you begin the next leg of your journey, we offer these tips:

- Stop by one of your favorite spots on campus one last time.
- Grab your smartphone and capture these special moments with friends and family.
- Hug your friends.
- Take a few pepperoni rolls home with you – they freeze well!
- Follow us on social media – we're on Twitter, LinkedIn, and Facebook.
- Make sure your new contact information is up-to-date by signing up for the Mountaineer Connection: www.mountaineerconnection.com.
- Last, but not least, visit often – The Erickson Alumni Center is a home for all Mountaineers!

Again, congratulations on this wonderful achievement. We are glad to have you as part of our Mountaineer family. We hope to see you soon!

In Mountaineer Spirit,

Stephen L. Douglas
