Alma Mater
by Louis Corson

Alma, our Alma Mater,
The home of Mountaineers.
Sing we of thy honor,
Everlasting through the years.
Alma, our Alma Mater,
We pledge in song to you.
Hail, all hail, our Alma Mater,
West Virginia “U.”
Commencement is a life-changing milestone, and it is truly disappointing that we cannot celebrate this moment together as we had envisioned when you started your journey.

However, we will celebrate. We invite you to participate in Mountaineer Graduation Day, an online commencement experience on May 16, and to return to campus for a special ceremony in December that will be dedicated to our May graduates. We want to recognize your achievements in the storied tradition that you so richly deserve and have earned.

While these changes are unprecedented in West Virginia University history, they remind us of the many hardships that Mountaineers have overcome — from wars, to economic depressions, to national tragedies — while completing their education.

Grit and determination have seen you through to graduation and will continue to sustain you during this difficult time. But, as the word “commencement” implies, your real journey is only now beginning. Better days lie ahead, and you will help us reach them.

Life is about finding your purpose and making sure your choices serve that purpose. Is your goal healing the sick? Inspiring others with your artistic vision? Shattering the status quo with the next high-tech innovation?

Whatever path you choose, Mountaineer perseverance will guide you to ever-higher summits. The unique skills and strengths you honed here will drive you onward. The hopes and goodwill of 200,000 other West Virginia University graduates will accompany you. And your own inner calling will lead you to the perfect destination.

Your purpose is calling. A brighter future is dawning.

Let’s go!

Sincerely,

E. Gordon Gee
President, West Virginia University

The Order of Augusta is awarded to a select group of each year’s WVU Foundation Outstanding Seniors. Those selected have shown superior scholarship, leadership and service as an undergraduate. This award, the highest given to a student by the University, is named for its historical significance in the state. Augusta was among the original names considered by the Legislature when the state seceded from Virginia in 1863.

2020 WVU Foundation Outstanding Seniors

Established in 1995 to signify the 40th anniversary of the WVU Foundation, the WVU Foundation Outstanding Senior award is given yearly to West Virginia University’s top graduates, based on a number of criteria: academic achievement, honors, awards, public service, demonstrated leadership, collegiate work experience, letters of reference and a narrative of the value of the West Virginia University undergraduate experience.

Dear Graduates of the Statler College of Engineering and Mineral Resources,

Congratulations on staying focused through what has been arguably one of the most challenging times to study in the history of our college. I am so pleased that you have completed your studies and will be heading out into the world to make a difference. There is so much for you to contribute to the world given your engineering skills, work ethic and life experience. The experiences of the past few months will shape you and your career choices in ways that may not be obvious for years to come. I see so many engineering challenges in how the world has faced this pandemic. From supply chain management, to automated DNA testing, to the development of medical instrumentation and sterilization techniques, to database development, to wireless connectivity, and even to disruptive ideas for the food industry. The ability to learn and to think creatively as a result of your WVU engineering education will be what sets you apart in the world of the future. If you had a chance to view the Country Roads video compilation that appeared in late March, you will also know that wherever you go in this world, your connection to the worldwide WVU family will always tie you here to the mountains of this beautiful state and the resilient people of West Virginia. Congratulations again on your accomplishments. I join your families in their pride in your successes.

Let’s Go!

To the class of 2020, you really know how to make a memorable exit!!

Though we cannot share the celebration of your tremendous achievement in person, I want you to know that we are proud of you. We are proud of how you have developed, grown and inspired. During your “somewhat short” time on campus you have witnessed a seismic change in our culture and our world. Now that you have had a head start on life after WVU, I hope you take a moment to reflect on how you are now ready to be a needed catalyst for change in our society.

Being a catalyst for change is actually a very heavy assignment. But let’s be blunt, these are heavy times. During your lifetimes the historic events of September 11, 2001; Hurricane Katrina; a nation divided and now a true pandemic have occurred. These are the events that will shape history and your generation. As those with a grounding in the arts who are still developing your path, you are the ones chosen (by history) to reflect the culture of these times. Whatever your primary area of focus may be, you are someone who is embedded in the arts. And for those embedded in the arts, one of our greatest charges is to capture the shifts in society. Yes, great social upheavals are accompanied by great artistic movements. In the previous century alone, the periods around the world wars, the civil rights movement, and the AIDS crisis were catalysts that led to incredible artistic contributions. Like the current pandemic, these were awful times for society. Those are the times when we as artists must be at our best, our most sincere.

So yes, I wish we could meet in person, share hugs and selfies. That will happen, but that moment is not now. Now is the time for you to bask in the glory of achievement. Now is the time to know that we are proud of you. Now is the time to know we will miss you (which is why you need to visit). And now is the time to give the most important piece of advice you will ever get from me. You are artists in the 21st century. You will attend many events. At these events there will be free food. EAT IT!!!!!!!!!! (Cause you know they did not pay you enough so stuff your face at every opportunity!!)

Congratulations, you are ready to make the world a better place!

Dear CEHS Graduates,

Commencement always brings a host of emotions, but this year it is particularly bittersweet. While we are not able to celebrate together in person, I speak for the entire faculty and staff of the College of Education and Human Services when I say that we are incredibly proud of your achievements and wish you great success as you move forward. You are in our thoughts as you turn your tassels, wherever you may be.

I congratulate you on the culmination of all your hard work and dedication. You are committed, compassionate, collaborative and well-prepared. The friendships you’ve formed, lessons you’ve learned and values you’ve shaped will be with you as you take the next step in your life’s journey.

The late Nelson Mandela noted that “Education is the most powerful weapon you can use to change the world.” I hope that you will always remember that a better future is yours to create. In these uncertain and everchanging times, you have the unique opportunity to reshape our world using all that you’ve learned here. The need for educators and helping professionals who can improve the lives of others is greater than ever before, and although your chosen professions may look different now than they did even a few months ago, I am confident that you are prepared for whatever challenges are ahead.

Thank you for choosing WVU and CEHS. Thank you for respecting and embracing what our faculty offered — and thank you for teaching us in turn. Know that we hope to hear from you in the future. It is a privilege to learn of the adventures of our alumni, to travel beside you in spirit and to welcome you back on many and varied returns.

So please keep your sincerity, integrity, kindness and resilience – and remember wherever you go, you will always be a Mountaineer.

Stay safe and be well.

Members of the Class of 2020,

It is my honor and privilege as dean of the West Virginia University College of Law to recognize and congratulate you on the completion of your legal education. The faculty and staff of the College of Law are certainly proud of you.

For 142 years, our law school has educated lawyers and leaders to serve the state of West Virginia, the nation and the world. Over the course of our history, only a few graduating classes have faced what you have faced: the upheaval of normal society that threatened your legal education. You showed your mettle. You rose to the challenge with resilience, innovation, commitment and adaptability — hallmarks of a good lawyer.

As you embark upon the practice of the law, you will undoubtedly face more challenges, and you will have many opportunities. Never forget what you accomplished in the midst of a global pandemic.

You have had many experiences during your time on Law School Hill that will stay with you for the rest of your lives, and you have made friends you will treasure for the remainder of your days. Reflect on the time we have spent together and celebrate this milestone in your life. Recognize, also, the many people in your life who, through their support and sacrifice, have made it possible for you to succeed in law school.

During the past three years, my colleagues and your professors have tried to equip you with the knowledge and skills necessary to enter the legal profession and succeed. As you go forth to live your lives greatly within the law, it is vital that you do so with idealism, so as to bring distinction upon yourselves, upon your school and upon the legal profession.

Members of the Class of 2020, your accomplishments are many and none have been more worthy to receive the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence from West Virginia University. You have mastered the challenges of law school. You can now take your rightful place in the world as lawyers fighting for justice. That is a noble cause and you have earned the right to be proud.

Sincerely,

Gregory W. Bowman
William J. Maier, Jr. Dean and Professor of Law

Dear College of Physical Activity and Sport Sciences Class of 2020,

On behalf of the College’s faculty, staff, students and alumni, I would like to congratulate you on your graduation from CPASS and WVU! This is a wonderful accomplishment, and I know you have many amazing adventures ahead of you. Let this graduation be one of many steps along your journey of professional growth, development and personal fulfillment. In graduating from CPASS you are joining an illustrious list of graduates from the last 88 years who have accomplished great things in areas such as athletics, teaching, consulting, coaching, business, military, medicine and many others.

It is my hope that you achieve great things moving forward using the information and lessons learned within CPASS. Remember that Mountaineers Go First, and you don’t need to be afraid to be a trailblazer!

You are forever connected with our CPASS family. Please keep in touch and update us on your career and life milestones, as we want to know what you are up to so we can celebrate your accomplishments and provide support when needed.

I hope that you count your years within CPASS as some of the best times of your life. You have been supported by a world-class faculty and staff that have dedicated themselves to providing you with the best possible educational experience. I’m sure that you have made friendships that will last a lifetime. Along with the challenges and successes that you experienced as a student within our colleges, let these positive memories stay with you forever.

I know that your last semester may not have gone as planned but know that we within CPASS are a strong family and in the spirit of true Mountaineers, we have come together to overcome the difficulties thrown at us by COVID-19 and we are now stronger for it. We have learned life lessons of resilience, strength, compassion, curiosity and self-discovery. I hope that you will use what you have learned from these lessons to help you enter the next phase of your life’s journey as a nimbler, stronger and more creative person.

It has been my pleasure to have been a part of your educational journey. I am extremely proud of each of you. Always wear your old gold and blue with pride and go make the world a better place by promoting the core values of our college: application of knowledge; diversity, equity and inclusion; collaboration and discovery; community engagement; and well-being.

Celebrate today with those close to you. Don’t forget to thank your parents, friends and family for their constant support throughout this journey. I hope that you have loved your time in CPASS as much as we have loved having you as a student within our college. Continue to look for those country roads that take you home to Morgantown. And when you do come home, you are always welcome within CPASS. Let’s Go Mountaineers!

Sincerely,

Graduates,

You have worked hard and endured through many personal and shared obstacles to get to this point in your educational careers. Your success is impressive, and the highest congratulations are in order. As you’ve pursued an incredible education here at West Virginia University, allow me to teach you one more lesson before you go.

Twists and turns, uncertainties and surprises are part of what make a good story so riveting. Expectations fulfilled do not make for a good story. Many of your expectations, as well as mine, have not been met this semester. We expected life to go on as it always has with classes, graduations, birthday parties and weddings. We expected to shake hands, hug and say goodbye. Celebrations have been cancelled, but life has not.

Donald Miller writes in “A Million Miles in a Thousand Years: What I Learned While Editing My Life,” that the point of a story — and life — is character transformation.

“If the character doesn’t change, the story hasn’t happened yet,” he says. “And if story is derived from real life, if story is just a condensed version of life, then life itself may be designed to change us so that we evolve from one kind of person to another.”

Change does not come from a place of comfort and mundanity. Change comes when it is forced upon us and we must, somehow, press on. Although it may not feel so, twists and turns, uncertainties and surprises are nurturing forces to any protagonist.

Your life, your story and your character have been challenged. I hope that you’ll pursue transformation as adamantly as you pursued education.

I am happy to usher a class, not of graduates but of protagonists, on to write the rest of their stories. However, I won’t congratulate you for your graduation. I won’t congratulate you for this achievement. I congratulate you for the unforeseeable twist, the scariest turn, the unknown uncertainties and the biggest surprise a graduating class has ever encountered. I congratulate you for the incredible story you’ll live and the impressive character you’ll become.

Congratulations, graduates, your story has begun.

Dear Eberly College of Arts and Sciences May 2020 graduates,

On behalf of the Eberly College, I wish to congratulate you on this great achievement. Whether you have completed an undergraduate degree program; graduate/professional program; or a doctoral/research program, you all share a tremendous achievement in completing your studies and earning your degree. We, in the Eberly College, are very proud of our more than 1,100 May graduates, and we look forward to you using your education from the College and WVU to further your endless opportunities.

Our College is at the heart of WVU. It is the University’s largest and most diverse college with over 60 different degree programs. For the past several years you have been a vital part of our College and the source of its mission. I wish to thank you for letting our faculty and staff work with you, guide you and help you achieve success.

I have found it to be the case that few of us achieve meaningful successes without the help and support of others. Graduates, you have no doubt experienced numerous challenges as you progressed in your studies to arrive at this day. You have needed the involvement — the love and concern — of your parents, family, friends and other significant people in your lives. I hope you will take the opportunity to reflect on those who have helped you along the way — those on campus and those who have helped from afar. They share in your success, and I know you are grateful for their support.

Despite the fact that we are not physically present for Spring Commencement, remember that today is still a time for celebration. A celebration of ideas. A celebration of possibilities. Your collegiate education is a shining example of all that can be accomplished when you take ideas, embrace their possibilities and develop them into something meaningful.

Remember that the diploma you’ve earned is but a symbol of your achievement. It is your education – what you have learned about and learned how to do – that is the real gift. That is the culmination of your college experience. Never more than now, do we need individuals to utilize their education to touch lives, impact communities and help contribute to the solution of some of humanity’s greatest challenges. While this is an occasion to celebrate, it is also a time to launch anew. Continue to foster ideas, recognize their possibilities and unleash them as innovative solutions our world desperately needs. Finally, always remember that those ideas are rooted in your experiences here at West Virginia University and in the Eberly College, but that your ideas are only limited by your imagination.

Mountaineers, I congratulate you and wish you the very best!

Dear Class of 2020,

It’s hard to say goodbye, graduates. It’s especially hard to say goodbye when you weren’t ready. You had more memories to make. You had more to experience. You had more to learn.

As it turns out, you did learn – just not in the way that you planned. Each of you learned more than you ever bargained for in the last two months – and you learned it fast. In the true pioneering spirit of the Chambers College, you pivoted quickly, and successfully learned to navigate an online environment. Most importantly, you learned resiliency, compassion and empathy. There is nothing more important than taking care of each other and lending each other strength when our world is full of uncertainty.

Those aren’t the lessons you sign up for when you came to West Virginia University for New Student Orientation. You registered for a biology course, a math course, an English course, never knowing that the greatest – and often, the hardest – lessons come from the unexpected moments that test our resolve. Each of you have persevered through some of the most difficult days our world has faced in your lifetime with strength and grit. No other generation is going to be as ready as you to face your future – a future that will, undoubtedly, be full of change.

I often say that our Chambers College students are the future of work, and that’s never been more true than it is today. I realize that it may be difficult to think about the future, as the uncertainty of the world is heavy right now. What is certain is that there will be a future, and that future needs you. It needs your perseverance, your energy and your adaptability. It needs your hope and your aspirations to change the world for the better. It needs you to be the next generation of creators, entrepreneurs and business leaders who will confront the problems of today and solve the problems of tomorrow.

The jobs of tomorrow will favor those who are prepared to innovate and adapt on their feet. Chambers College students are well-prepared to do just that, as you have risen to the challenge together of navigating through the final months of your college education with flexibility and tenacity.

Each of you has a blank slate in front of you, and that will give you the ability to transform business. Companies will be rethinking how they work, and they will look to this generation to make an impact and shape a new course for all functional areas of business and organizations.

My hope is that you never stop dreaming big. Know that I am so proud of each and every one of you, and I can’t wait to hear how you’re changing the world. Go out there and do the impossible – it’s what Mountaineers do best!

Best wishes,

Javier Reyes

52 | COMMENCEMENT 2020
Dear Reed College of Media Class of 2020,

Congratulations! You have reached one of life’s major milestones.

Your last semester with us has been unlike anything we could have imagined, and yet it does not diminish this accomplishment. In fact, the unexpected events of the last couple of months have likely tested you in myriad new ways and left you stronger and wiser as a result.

As you embark on your next journey, be patient, stay positive and take comfort in knowing your College of Media education has honed your professionalism, curiosity, determination, creativity, work ethic and intelligence. Remember that the media industry is diverse and ever-changing, and our work is more important than ever, as we help people make sense of the world, build community and make informed decisions. Work hard and find joy, purpose and motivation in your profession, knowing there will be opportunities for you to pivot and use your education and skills in new ways as well.

You will undoubtedly face obstacles and make mistakes along the way, but don’t let that stop you from remaining curious and brave. Continue to demonstrate that media professionals are trustworthy and ethical by relying on your knowledge and experience and by listening to your heart.

I trust your time at West Virginia University has been one of self-discovery and growth, where you’ve found what motivates and inspires you and learned where you struggle and excel. I hope that the friendships and connections formed on campus go on to inspire you long after graduation, and I hope you’ll stay in touch.

Class of 2020, we will miss you! Remember you will always have a second home at the Reed College of Media and a Mountaineer family that wishes you only the best.

Sincerely,

Diana Martinelli

COMMENCEMENT 2020 | 55
To the Class of 2020,

It is said every generation is defined by a moment in the history of the country and the lives of its people. My parents’ was World War Two. Mine was 1960’s turmoil and the Vietnam War. Yours will be inextricably intertwined with the pandemic of COVID-19. The culmination of your education should be a time to celebrate accomplishment, but fate intervened to make it one of challenge and uncertainty. Remember during Orientation when I spoke to your class several times that first week? I described the journey including the statement, “No one ever said it was going to be easy.” It was anything EXCEPT easy. Undeterred, you dedicated yourselves to your work, persevered, collaborated and succeeded despite the curriculum rigors. As the Marines tell recruits, “You adapt, you improvise, you overcome.” You have done so magnificently. With those skills and your experiences, you will also successfully overcome the trials and uncertainties our country struggles to address and resolve.

As you graduate dental school, you are tasked to help make our society a better place. Some will go on to specialty training, some into practice and others into the armed forces. You are professionals in every sense of the word with the exact same responsibilities of those who came before you who were afforded the spring tradition of ceremonies. That moment of honor and distinction for you has sadly been postponed. Most assuredly, your faculty’s greatest joy and achievement is being at that ceremony, basking in pride watching their mentorship of each one of you come to fruition. That will be tremendously missed. Every teacher’s greatest joy is in seeing the success of students. Their joy and your success is not lessened amidst a time never anticipated or contemplated.

We have been made wiser by this unprecedented assault on what was considered “normal life.” We must adapt, improvise and do what is required to enrich our lives and those of our families and fellow citizens. You are receiving the torch of leadership to help society retool and reinvent itself by what has been learned in these past extraordinary months. But, before you act, note the words of nineteenth-century German philosopher, Fredrich Hegel: “The only thing we learn from history is that we learn nothing from history.” Now is the time to LEARN from history. It is far too important for your future to ignore. Go forward determined to establish an even better dental profession, country and society. Heed the wisdom of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill: “One man with a conviction will overwhelm a hundred who have only opinions.” That opportunity is a bright light that comes out of this crisis – a chance to do even better and believe in yourselves.

It is my honor and privilege to be part of your lives. I will never forget any of you. In these moments, I bid you all bonne chance and adieu! Our paths will cross again!

Names listed in this program are taken from applications for graduation made to the WVU Office of the University Registrar. This document is not an official record of degrees awarded.

It’s not quite as you pictured it, this moment in time. The celebration that is the culmination of your years of hard work looks different than what you have imagined. It feels different. It is different.

The Japanese scholar Kakuzo Okakura once said, “The art of life lies in the constant readjustment to our surroundings.”

As healers and problem solvers, we know this to be true. The answer to a problem is rarely cut and dry. More often than not, we must start by eliminating possibilities and adjusting our perceptions, then reassessing our patients, lab samples or research hypothesis before finding the answer.

The search for the answer is the true process of medicine. It’s the lessons you’ve learned in the classroom. It’s the techniques you’ve applied in the clinic. It’s the relationships you’ve developed with mentors and peers. It’s knowing that you are more powerful when you work together and problem-solve as a team.

This is a defining moment in our history – your history. A time of challenge and uncertainty. But you have been preparing for this moment, and you will be ready. I know many of you are eager to set forth, degree in hand, to tackle today’s biggest problem – the global coronavirus pandemic. You will be serving in various capacities, supporting society and caring for people in new ways.

As a parent, I also know some of you reading this letter are family members. You sit with an equal mixture of admiration that your loved one was called to this field, but also with the fear of what the future holds for your newly minted healthcare provider.

We are currently in a phase shift of change. Phase shifting is moving from one stable state to another. Like water to ice or steam, depending on what kind of energy you inject into the system. We are phase shifting from a world of fear and scarcity to one of love and abundance. I believe crisis breeds compassion.

While it may not seem this way right now, we can feel the groundswell of change and new energy that is being contributed by many on earth. Through this series of changes, there are new openings to commit ourselves to collaboration and community. To wholeness and unity.

I trust in the training our graduates have received to become not only healthcare providers, but “whole” care providers. I trust you – the graduate. I know you understand safety and wellness. You have learned valuable life lessons that will serve you well not only in times of great uncertainty and change, but in the moments when you have time to be and to breathe.

This day of commencement, this day of celebration is such a moment. Be. Breathe. Celebrate.

Dear School of Nursing graduates,

In 1960, the WVU School of Nursing was established with the goals of providing a university-level degree in nursing and to help meet the needs for nursing in the state. How far we’ve come in 60 years — and you have been a part of it!

This is an extraordinary time for nursing. The need for experienced, skilled and talented nurses, at all levels, has never been greater. In recent weeks, we have seen our colleagues on the front lines of an unprecedented pandemic. They are rising to the challenge because, simply put, that is what nurses do.

Ironically, 2020 was named the International Year of the Nurse by the World Health Organization in celebration of Florence Nightingale’s 200th birthday. It was planned long before our current health crisis and seems fitting now more than ever.

For our new graduates, I am sure you are anxious to see what the future holds. I am more than confident you are ready for anything that comes your way. You have had some of the best nurses in the country as your instructors and the long days and nights, the clinical shifts in person and online have prepared you well.

For our graduate students who are receiving another nursing degree, the healthcare system needs your leadership particularly now. Whether teaching future nurses, making innovative changes as a nurse executive, impacting change at a governmental level or helping our communities stay healthy, your experience will benefit generations to come.

Congratulations on your graduation and this outstanding achievement! On behalf of the entire School of Nursing, I wish you continued success in your nursing careers. We are honored to have played a part.

Sincerely,

Dear New Doctors of Pharmacy and Doctors of Philosophy,

On behalf of the faculty and staff of the School of Pharmacy, we are incredibly proud of your accomplishments and very excited for you to begin your professional careers. We are also indebted to your loved ones, as you undoubtedly are as well, for helping you through this journey.

Every year, our faculty look forward to honoring the individual and collective accomplishments of each class. Commencement is a special occasion, and we will dearly miss celebrating with you in person at this time.

In some ways, commencement marks the culmination of your journey at the School of Pharmacy, but it also signifies a time to look forward to the exciting opportunities that lie ahead. You are now joining a group of professionals commonly referred to as the most widely accessible medical providers. Now, more than ever, the public and the healthcare system need your innovation, leadership and collaborative skills. So, do not be fearful of challenges and believe in yourselves.

Perhaps your greatest test going forward will be to find the area of practice that is most rewarding for you and beneficial to society, consistent with the roots of your degree from a land-grant institution. Just remember to stay open to opportunities. The best jobs may not be ones that are widely advertised, but ones created because someone believes in you, or you in yourself!

When we interview potential PharmD students, many of the traits we look for fall in line with the words found in the Boy Scout Law. I do not have space to elaborate here, however I would like you to contemplate how a pharmacist is: trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent.

One trait that is missing from the Scouts law is persistence. You certainly need to have that trait to earn your PharmD or PhD degree! So, do not be afraid of failure, for you cannot have success without it. It is my firm belief that the profession you are entering will evolve rapidly over the next decade and beyond. You have learned many skills to facilitate success in the future, but your ability to best utilize them may require some persistence on your part.

A snapshot of the Class of 2020 shows that you come from all regions of West Virginia, ten other states, one other country, various ethnicities and backgrounds. Some of you are the first in your family to attend college. However, you all have been united by this University, this School, and now the profession of pharmacy.

Never forget your “home amongst the hills” as we will always be here to encourage your professional growth, commiserate in not so good times and celebrate in your successes. We certainly look forward to seeing you in person at the December graduation or our School of Pharmacy alumni events.

Sincerely,

William P. Petros, PharmD, FCCP

Dear Graduate:

Today marks a bittersweet day in your academic career. As disappointed as I am to not be with you in person to celebrate your graduation from the School of Public Health, it does not diminish how proud I am of your accomplishments. You and your fellow graduates have faced an unprecedented wave of challenges this semester, yet responded with innovative relentlessness, responsibility and fortitude – defining characteristics of a Mountaineer that will no doubt serve you well in every aspect of your life, especially as a public health professional.

As you graduate, the entire world now understands the importance of public health. This pandemic has amplified a core fundamental of public health: good health is not simply a matter of choice or a matter of genetics. Rather, it is impacted by the conditions in which people live, work and play, and you have made the choice to dedicate yourself to improving those conditions.

Today, you join your fellow WVU Public Health alumni in a profession that believes deeply that good health is not a privilege of the few, but is a basic human right for all people – regardless of their socioeconomic status, race, ethnicity, religion, gender identity, sexual orientation or country of origin.

Coupled with my feeling proud of your successes is heartfelt gratitude – directed not only to you for choosing the School of Public Health as the place to shape your passion and define your purpose, but also to the “village” that helped you arrive at today’s milestone. To our faculty and staff; the family members and friends of our graduates; and the many partners across our state and beyond: thank you for investing in our students. Your guidance, support and mentorship have grown this class of students to graduates, and I’m confident the return on your investment will be immeasurable.

On behalf of the faculty and staff in the School of Public Health, I extend my congratulations and wish you continued success as you advance to the next chapter of your life, whether that’s continuing your academic journey with the School of Public Health or elsewhere, or taking that first step in your career. I speak on behalf of all of my Health Sciences colleagues when I tell you there is no greater reward than seeing each of you succeed.

Wherever your next step leads, continue following your dreams – never losing sight of the golden rule of life – and follow the path upstream to make your community, state and world a better place.

Congratulations, Class of 2020!

Best wishes,

COMMENCEMENT 2020 | 69
Congratulations from the WVU Alumni Association

Congratulations, Graduates!

You did it. After years of hard work and dedication, you’ve earned your degree from West Virginia University. On behalf of the WVU Alumni Association, I applaud you for reaching this significant milestone.

I sincerely wish that I were writing to you under more traditional circumstances. During what was supposed to be a time of celebration and new beginnings, we are instead facing a global crisis; WVU has been tasked with making tough decisions like never before. Though you may feel as if your college days ended prematurely, the resiliency of the Class of 2020 will never be forgotten.

You will soon learn that your West Virginia University experience does not end with graduation; a part of your alma mater will always be with you. When you see a flying WV on a car in the parking lot or when you pass someone wearing a WVU hat in the airport, you will feel an overwhelming sense of pride for being a part of something bigger. You are a Mountaineer for life.

As you embark on the next phase of your life during this time of trial and uncertainty, know that you are not alone. You are now a part of a growing community of more than 200,000 Mountaineers across the globe, and I assure you that wherever country roads may lead you next, your alumni family will be there. Thousands of Mountaineers have come before you and thousands more will follow. You will always have your Mountaineer family that has grown over the course of your time here, and you will always have the people at the Alumni Association to support you on the journey ahead.

To help you stay connected, we are providing you with a complimentary year of membership to the WVU Alumni Association as a graduation gift. I encourage you to join your local alumni chapter, engage with fellow Mountaineers on WVU Connect (wvuconnect.com), and take advantage of our valuable services and communications that will continue your connection with West Virginia University. You can learn more about your year of free membership to the WVU Alumni Association and how we serve you by visiting alumni.wvu.edu.

I am proud of you and your fellow graduates, and I am eager to help you remain connected with our alma mater.
